Inaugural release of Functor Network

Chun Ding • 10 Sep 2023

Hello everyone! I'm the maintainer of Functor Network, a new platform especially designed for mathematical content. I'm thrilled to announce the inaugural release.

We have successfully implemented the most fundamental functionalities and essential features. On Functor Network, you can create a post in either markdown or LaTeX format. Markdown is ideal for HTML content, while LaTeX has strengths in mathematical content. Regardless of the format you choose, features such as automated references, bibliography, LaTeX packages, and theorem environments are all fully supported. All you need to do is focus on your content.

If you have any feedback, do not hesitate to contact us!