Hi. It’s me.

Matt • 3 Nov 2023

Introduction

Hello,

I am just writing a quick post to introduce myself and test this system. It was exciting to discover as I searched for somewhere I might keep my notes!

My name is Matt. I went to school to study general and financial mathematics. I really like thinking about silly things. I am also greatly interested in art and music. My first intention with this platform is to make myself some notes on an adventure to rediscover a numerical method for fractional differential equations that I wrote about in grad school. As I recall, not much came of it, but I am here to again explore some of those ideas. I’ll probably go off into some other fractional calculus talk and perhaps even digress into some improbable number theory.

I will probably have several wrong/bad ideas, so feel free to let me know if you see those. Does this place allow commenting?

-Matt