Hello world,

I’m 35 years old, born in Hamburg, and have been living near Barcelona since I was 4 years old.

I studied electronic engineering and have mostly worked as a teacher in secondary schools. Unfortunately, teaching in secondary school has been incredibly disappointing.

Currently, I work as a substitute professor at the Polytechnic University of Catalonia, where I lecture in mathematics for engineering students.

I’m also pursuing an undergraduate degree in mathematics at the same university.

I enjoy sharing what I’m currently studying and have been doing so on Mathstodon.xyz.

I look forward to meeting some nice people,

Marc Schmidt Pujol
